

Hutchins 27 September 1864.

You desired some year ago I have a photograph of your humble servant. I will take the liberty to find one, hoping that you will look ~~under~~ at it more mild and forbearing, ^{than} ~~as~~ a creditor usually looks on a debtor. Scarcely I can say how happy you would make me by finding me your portrait; it should be a honour for me to have it in my chamber not only as a fatherly mighty father, but also as a fatherly friend.

I have the honour to remain for ever
Your most obliged

N. J. Anderson.

I scarcely need to tell you with how much interest we all, free citizens in an old free country, wish that order may soon return in disturbed America, and good result from trouble and sorrow.

Honoured Sir!

I am almost uncertain if you do remember me, for thinking how long since I wrote to you or received any letter from your hand, I must believe me quite forgotten. And the worst is that I feel me ~~not~~ to deserve it. - But I pray you you listen to that little I have to say in my favour.

The last end of this year I was absorbed in concluding that monograph of the willows I was unfortunate to promise to De Caneva. My manuscript advancing I hoped to send it to the illustre Editor of the prospectus at Genf. Then my wife made a revolution in my tranquil home, and disturbed my working-leisure. She gave my a boy (the third now - of me miserum!) and after it she was taken so ill, that I was obliged to go with her to a seavath - and there to devote the entire summer.

Before ending my treatise upon the willows I ever would not could write to you. I felt my afraid to keep your collection so long, and I would expect to see you at once: now I have finished, now I send you back your herbium.

But - as you see - fata non sic voluerunt!
It yet want some time before I can have the pleasure to announce you that I have been liberated from a task laid upon me since many years. Then I will be happy to immediately to send you Salicy back again.

Through the kindness of Dr. J. D. Hooker I have got occasion to see the willows brought from America by Jan Angus, Frago River and Sackelchevon, Rocky mountains &c. by ^{Lyall} ~~Fraser~~ Bourgeau &c.
There are many very curious forms very allied to those from eastern Asia, (and many proving connectivity forms of ancient species as S. sitchensis, S. speciosa &c.

I shall be most happy to communicate with you this winter an enumeration of all willows which I know from America. As you wished I will also draw up diagnoses for those growing in the territory which your admirable Manual comprehend.

Sending back your willows I will take care that you may have some interesting new plants recently detected in our country.
